Kia ora koutou Tinui School whānau and friends!

Even though winter is supposedly on the way out the winter coughs, colds and other diseases are rearing their ugly heads. There have been lots of students away this week with various illnesses and some of them seem to be hitting the kids really hard. It is really important that you keep your child at home until they are fully recovered as they will come back to school and give others their bugs or have a relapse because they are still a bit run down by the bug they have been fighting. I know as parents you are concerned that your child will be missing important learning and you want them back at school so they don't miss out. We understand this, but by letting them recover fully at home before they return to school will, hopefully, mean they don't miss out on more learning time because they have picked up another bug before their immune system has recovered. I don't want to tell you how to parent but please remember to make sure everyone is washing their hands lots when you have a sick child in the house as this significantly reduces the risk of others catching what they have. Please also be vigilant about showing your child or children how to cough and sneeze into a tissue or their elbow as this keeps the bugs away from their hands. I have put a link in the newsletter to a video, of New Zealand origin, for you to look at if you need a refresher.

Exciting things still to come this term are: Onesie Day to support the Wellington Free Ambulance next Thursday, planting trees with the ANZAC Trust on Taipo hill next Friday with the year 4-6s, Artsplash Sing on the 17th of September and the EPRO 8 Challenge on the 19th and 20th September(We will be selecting teams for the EPRO 8 next week) and the annual Wairarapa school photo competition. I hope you have a great weekend !

If you need to contact me please do so at school or on principal@tinui.school.nz

MONEY TIME

The Year 7 and 8 students in Room 4 have been using an online financial literacy resource called Money Time. Ask your year 7 or 8 about it. Next week the year 5s and 6s will be let loose on money time too!

MoneyTime is a self directed learning experience for New Zealand. Students complete financial lessons on-line at their own pace. They test their knowledge via multi choice tests and quizzes and teachers receive immediate feedback on their results.

Complementing these lessons is a money management experience in which students get to make their own financial decisions. They earn money by answering the quiz and test questions correctly which is paid into a virtual bank account. They then have a choice of spending, saving or investing it.

The result is they have a whole lot of fun learning how money works in the safety of their classroom!
